

Rugby Sevens

Number 4 Region were pleased to sponsor the inaugural 2009 British Police Rugby Sevens Championship and the photograph shows the Garda Síochána from Ireland with the Trophy having beaten South Wales Police 36-05 in the final held at Stourbridge RFC in Birmingham on Wednesday the 16th of September.

The win is the first for the tournament with eighteen forces competing. However, the outcome was never really in doubt as the Garda roared into an early lead and one from which South Wales Police, like other sides before them were never able to get their hands on the ball long enough and were unable to recover.

With all teams having played five punishing games in their respective pools the Garda were drawn against Devon & Cornwall in the semi-final, whom they brushed past with ease 24-07 to reach the final along with South Wales Police who defeated Staffordshire 31-12 in the other semi-final.

In the Plate competition, the Metropolitan Police beat Kent and then completely over-ran West Midlands, who had earlier defeated West Yorkshire, in a one-sided final 50-17 with a superb performance to notch the win.

IPA Membership and Diamond Jubilee information leaflets were circulated to all participants, and Branch officials from participating teams are asked to "chase up" those players interested in the benefits of membership of the IPA.
